From the President of the MOAA Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter President.

It has been my pleasure to be your Virtual Chapter President for the past year, and I'm looking forward to the coming year, 2024. It's been a great year for our chapter – we've had some excellent speakers providing us with information and resources available to us – and many informational meetings that have enabled us to get to know each other a bit better. The Book Club is a beautiful addition for our members who are participating. I hope to see you all in the coming year. Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, a blessed Christmas, and a happy Hannukah; enjoy the New Year, and I'll see you on January 16, 2024. Barbara Smith

Surviving Spouse Virtual Book Club: Pat Green

The Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter Book Club had its final meeting for 2023.

The book discussed was ONE SECOND AFTER by William R. Forstchen. It was a fictional account of the changes in a rural community when an electromagnetic pulse caused by an enemy of the United States cripples electricity supply, communications, and transportation. A retired Army Colonel emerges as the leader in the crisis.

Nora Durham introduced the book to our readers and led the discussion. Such a timely review of the apparent fact that our way of life can be disrupted at any time. The response and preparedness highlighted the community's civility and cohesiveness—a great job by Nora and a timely topic.

This selection was yet another example of the exploration of how going outside our standard range of reading materials can expand our consciousness.

The book for discussion in January 2024 is WILD SWANS: Three Daughters of China by Jung Chang. It is a biography and an autobiography written about the lives of three generations of Chinese women. It begins with the life of the grandmother, a warlord's concubine, continuing with the struggles of the mother, a Communist party leader during the Mao Cultural Revolution, and concludes with the life of the writer as she progresses to a linguistics doctorate from York University in Britain. Many insights are provided into the life of Chinese women and their progress in society. Pat Green will lead the discussion. In February, Barbara Smith will introduce us to the series of novels Iris Johansson wrote. She chose the first book in the Eve Duncan series titled THE FACE OF DECEPTION.

Please join us on January 16 at 5 p.m. as we kick off the 2024 season of the SSVC Book Club with WILD SWANS.

Feature Article: Surviving Spouse Corner: Is a 55-and-Older Community Right for You? By: Nora Durham, MOAA Surviving Spouse Advisory Council

What is a 55-and-older community? These residential communities are designed to be friendly to seniors with low-maintenance amenities such as pools and clubhouses and proximity to shopping, restaurants, and attractions. There are more than 19,000 retirement community businesses in the U.S. as of 2023, an increase of 1.2% from 2022, according to IBISWorld.com.

RELATED: [MOAA's Digital Retirement Guide]

Pros of living in one of these communities include:

- Like-minded people. Because of the age requirements, many people living there will likely be from your generation and share your interests. This will help making new friends easier.
- Activities and events. Many communities have a clubhouse with social events, games, movies, concerts, speakers, and more. These activities are usually open to the whole community, so you can participate as many as you want.
- Less maintenance. You'll probably need to pay an HOA fee for maintenance and repairs, but you won't need to worry about managing the outside of your property. The fee could include services such as trash collection, cable, water, and security.
- Various amenities. Many of these communities have a pool, a gym, tennis/pickleball courts, golf, a game room, and more.
- Transportation. Some communities offer shuttles to shopping centers or health appointments.
- Quiet, kid-free environment. Besides holidays when grandchildren can visit, most of these communities are quiet.
- Safety and security. Many of these communities are gated and have low crime rates. They also often have security staff, well-lit areas, updated fire alarms, smoke detectors, and other safety features.

Having lived in a gated 55-plus community since 2020, the only con is that I did not move here sooner. But for some, cons of these communities might include less privacy, higher costs, challenges selling, and younger family members potentially being restricted. Nora Durham, MOAA Sept 2023.

If you're considering moving to a retirement community, make a list of other questions before you buy and ask the homeowner association (HOA) for answers. Get a copy of the HOA rules (also called restrictive covenants) and fees, and make sure you understand them before deciding.

THE PACT ACT (Taken directly from VA.GOV). A repeat performance. This was highlighted in our last MOAA Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter Newsletter (August 2023), as it is an ongoing wealth of information. Please read and ACT!

Why file? If you filed and were denied the VA benefits as a surviving spouse or never filed, please consider investigating if you meet the new criteria for receiving VA benefits due to the Pact Act. To file an intent or to submit a claim PACT ACT.

August 10, 2023, marked the first anniversary of the passing of the Pact Act. This new legislation is essential because it provides VA benefits to a surviving spouse who was not previously eligible. The Pact Act recognizes recent presumptive illness that if a service member dies due to this service-connected disability, their beneficiary may be qualified for Veteran Affairs (VA) benefits. These benefits include Dependency Indemnity Compensation (($1562.00/month), home Loan, education, Fiduciary program, aid and attendance, and more.

Since enacting this law, the VA has been identifying those surviving spouses who might be eligible. However, they have asked for Veteran Service Organizations to help reach out. MOAA Surviving

Spouse Advisory Council is doing much to help with this effort. If you know a surviving spouse who does not receive DIC, please share the Pact Act information with them. This benefit can change the quality of life of a surviving spouse. Learn about VA DIC and how to apply.

Note: If we deny your claim in the past and we think you may be eligible now, we'll try to contact you. We may be able to reevaluate your claim. But you don't need to wait for us to get you before you reapply. You may be eligible for these benefits as the surviving family member of a Veteran:

- Burial benefits and memorial items, burial allowance, Education, and training. Health care through the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Department of Veterans Affairs (CHAMPVA). You may qualify if you're the survivor or dependent of a Veteran with a service-connected disability—a VA-backed home loan.

A message from the Secretary of the VA, Secretary Denis McDonough: "If you're the survivor of a Vet who died from one of the many conditions outlined in the toxic exposure legislation—including cancers and other illnesses—you may be eligible for VA care and benefits. And while there's no deadline to apply, applying or submitting an Intent to File on or before August 9th means survivor benefits you may be granted will be backdated to August 10th of last year, when the bill became law. You can learn more by visiting VA.gov/PACT or calling 1-800-MY-VA-411 (1-800-698-2411). EVENTS: Veterans Day 2023-Honoring All Who Served

Veterans Day, originally known as Armistice Day, commemorates the conclusion of World War I. On the hour of the 11th day of the 11th month in 1918, an armistice occurred between the Allied nations and Germany. 1919 President Woodrow Wilson designated November 11 as Armistice Day to honor those who bravely served in World War I. 1954; after World War II and the Korean War, this holiday was renamed Veterans Day to pay tribute to all United States veterans. It is an occasion for expressing gratitude towards those who selflessly dedicated themselves to 70th Anniversary of the Conclusion of the Korean War.

Colonel Philip Cisneros, a dedicated US Marine, ventured into the Korean War at the early age of 19, where he bravely faced battle wounds, earning a Purple Heart. His commitment to service spanned an impressive 42 years, marked by additional honors, including a Silver Star and Bronze Star during his deployment in Vietnam. He held a lifetime membership with MOAA and is survived by his spouse, Mrs. Virginia Cisneros, and daughter, Vivianne Cisneros Wersel, who are MOAA Life members and members of the MOAA Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter.

Often labeled the "Forgotten War," this conflict tested the spirit of individuals fighting for deeply held values. As we reflect on the 70th anniversary of the Korean War's conclusion, imagine the young faces of those who sacrificed their lives. The signing of the armistice on July 27, 1953, brought an end to the Korean Peninsula after three arduous years of warfare. Let's empathize with the countless men and women who displayed extraordinary bravery and resilience, dedicated to a cause larger than themselves. On this significant anniversary, let's honor the sacrifices of many. (Artist: Philip Cisneros circa 1951.)

Closing Message:

As a group, we pay tribute to the memories of those who have served, acknowledging the sacrifices they made both on the frontlines and in the lives they left behind. As we progress, may the cherished memories of our departed ones continue to bring light into our lives. May the strength within each one of us be a plethora of resilience. In unity, we find solace; through shared narratives, we uncover healing. By honoring those, we carry forth their enduring legacy.
